Course Description and Objectives: Why do we call our discipline political science? Can the scientific method, which was developed to study natural phenomena, also teach us about how political systems function? This course aims to address these questions. It also aims to introduce students to the main tools that political scientists use to conduct research, including research design, qualitative research methods, and quantitative research methods. This class will give students a better idea of what it is political scientists actually do, and it will also give students analytic tools to evaluate the strength of social scientific research.

Expectations:
1. Prepare for each class by carefully reading the assigned materials. If it appears that substantial numbers of students are not doing the readings, I will give pop quizzes that will be considered as a part of the participation grade.
2. Come to class on time.
3. Participate actively in class, both by making verbal contributions to discussions and by listening to your classmates. If you do not attend class regularly, you will not be able to participate in discussions.
4. Be respectful of others. I expect each student to pay careful attention to the views of your classmates.
5. Homework assignments should be made up entirely of your original work. Copying or paraphrasing a source without acknowledging that source is plagiarism and will not be tolerated. Allowing another student to copy your work is also cheating and likewise will not be tolerated. Students determined to have committed plagiarism will be treated in accordance with the University of Washington’s policy on academic honesty (http://depts.washington.edu/grading/issue1/honesty.htm).

Course Materials: I have put many of the readings for this class on reserve, and you can access them through the UW library website. That way, if you prefer to read them on your computer, you are free to do so, and if not, you can also print them out. In addition to these online materials, I have also assigned the following book (The book is available at the UW bookstore, but feel free to buy copies at other bookstores or online):

Disabled Student Services: If you would like to request academic accommodations due to a disability, please contact Disabled Student Services, 448 Schmitz, 543-8924 (V/TDD). If you have a letter from Disabled Student Services indicating you have a disability that requires academic accommodations, please present the letter to the professor so accommodations you might need for class can be discussed.

Grading: Grades in this course will be determined as follows:
- Classroom Participation: 25%
- Homework (4 assignments, 5% each): 20%
- Midterm Exam (November 5): 25%
- Final Exam (Tuesday, December 11): 30%

You are required to turn in hard copies of homework at the beginning of class.

Late assignments will be penalized .3 per date late (4→3.7→3.4, etc.). Once grades have been officially submitted for the course, late assignments will no longer be accepted.

Makeup exams and paper deadline extensions will not be allowed except in the cases of university-excused absences or illnesses, and proper documentation is required.

If you feel that you have been graded unfairly on any course assignment, please wait 24 hours after the assignment is returned and then contact the TA with a typed statement about why you believe you were graded unfairly. This typed statement must provide substantive reasons why you believe that you were graded unfairly. Appeals are due one week after the exam/homework was returned.

Office Hours: I encourage students to take advantage of my office hours in order to ask questions about course materials or to chat about issues related to the course or political science more generally. Also, if you have any comments about or problems with the course itself I encourage you to share them in my office hours.

If you would like to get in touch with me to ask a question or schedule an appointment, I encourage you to e-mail me.

Schedule:
9/26   Introduction

Unit 1: What’s Social About Social Science?
10/1   Social Science and Natural Science

10/3   History, Theory, and Political Science
Unit 2: Research Design

10/8 Questions and Concepts

10/10 Measurement and Types of Data
Human Rights and Democracy in India. Comparative Political Studies

Homework #1 distributed in class

10/15 Case Selection and Comparison
Globalization, and the End of the Cold War: Reevaluating a
(electronic reserve).

Homework #1 due at the beginning of class

Unit 3: Qualitative Research

10/17 Participant Observation
Cohn, Carol. 1987. Sex and Death in the Rational World of Defense

10/22 Archival Sources and Secondary Data
War's End: A Reply to Brooks and Wohlforth. International Security

10/24 Interviews
Guest Lecturer: Robert Pekkanen, Jackson School of International Studies

Pekkanen, Robert, Benjamin Nyblade, and Ellis S. Krauss. 2006. Electoral Incentives in Mixed-Member Systems: Parties, Posts, and Zombie
Politicians in Japan. American Political Science Review 100 (2):183-
192 (electronic reserve).

Homework #2 distributed in class

10/29 Process Tracing
Suppressed the Bush Vote.” Philadelphia Inquirer, Tuesday, 14 November 2000, p. 23A.

Homework #2 due at the beginning of class

10/31

Ethical Issues in Data Collection

11/5

MIDTERM

Unit 4: Quantitative Research

11/7

Sampling
Salkind, pp. 1-15, 301-327.

11/12

Class Cancelled for Veterans Day

11/14

More Sampling
Homework #3 distributed in class
Salkind, pp. 17-73.

11/19

Confidence
Homework #3 due at the beginning of class
Salkind, pp. 134-152.

11/21

Significance

11/26

Correlation
Salkind, pp. 74-96, 233-244, 262-273.

11/28

Regression
Homework #4 distributed in class
Salkind, pp. 245-261.

12/3

More Regression
Homework #4 due at the beginning of class
12/5  Review

12/11  FINAL EXAM, 8:30-10:20.